

ABSTRACT

A method of forming channels on a die or other substrate. Also disclosed are liquid cooling systems including such channels.